About me

Short section about myself.

Header profile section

It's possible to hide the profile picture using `\makeheaderprofilenoimg` instead than `\makeheaderprofilenoimg` and then `\profilepic{image.png}` can be removed.

Info profile section

It's possible to hide rows created with `\makeinfoprofile` command leaving the macros empty (e.g.

`\cvsitepersonal{}` instead than `\cvsitepersonal{example.com}`).

About the info profile commands

If not empty the `\cvaddressurl{}` command create a custom hyperlink containing the `\cvaddress{Address, Nation}` text. Same concept for `\cvskypeurlbase{join.skype.com/...}` and `\cvskypeurl{skype-username}` (to create an invite url read the skype FAQs).

Bibliography

Three different commands:

- A bold word made with the `\textbf{}`
- A gray phrase made with the `\graytext{}` command instead than overriding `\bfseries` like before
- A red phrase made with the `\textcolor{red}{}` command (the first argument is the color, the second one is the text).

Progress bar skill sections

The command

\customskills{Section

title}{{}, {}, {}} take three argument (the last one is optional).
```

The first argument is the section title, e.g. Languages. The second macro argument is an array of couples made by words and float numbers separated by slashes, e.g.

{{Latin/4.3}, {Greek/6}};

the number of course represents how much the skill ability is high. This array separator is a comma. Note that the array order is reversed: in the output list created by the example above has the word "Greek" before "Latin".
